

About Immersio

Immersio is a global provider of virtual training simulators and innovative visualization solutions.

With a dedicated team made up of skilled engineering and audiovisual experts, we are able to deliver high quality, innovative, on-time and on-budget solutions to our customers.

The services we offer range from the development of machinery simulators to the creation of multimedia projects, corporate portals and graphic design.

We have an agile and dynamic work methodology, far away from traditional consulting. Our main goals are to maximize our customers' return on investment and to insure their satisfaction.

Our staff has developed projects for aeronautical engineering as well as for big companies in sectors such as telecommunications, industry, entertainment and healthcare.
